

Luxury Dining & Entertaining Space in New York

by Downtown Magazine | Dec 6, 2017

With all the shopping and scurrying around going on this time of year. We decided to take a break, breathe and take in the sites. No not another Holiday window design, but rather a roundup of some of the best luxury private dining private and entertaining spaces offered in New York, luxury residential buildings.

While the at-home dinner party may conjure fond memories and ignite a dash of excitement, everyone knows that when actually undertaking the task it is far from pleasant. Ensuring a spotless home, preparing a home-cooked meal and greeting a constant stream of guests with a wine glass in hand is the ultimate definition of multi-tasking and a recipe for disaster. In an effort to appeal to the buyers yearning to play host(ess), developers are opting to incorporate everything from private dining rooms with ensuite catering kitchens to hotel-like services so their residents need not lift a finger, yet still get all the credit, when throwing their holiday soirees. Check out our faves.

Located along New Jersey's sought-after Hudson River waterfront in Jersey City's idyllic Newport neighborhood, is luxury condominium development Park and Shore. One of the development's most exciting spaces is the wine tasting lounge with private dining room. Not only does it provide an elegantly designed space for larger gatherings, but also eliminates the added stress of ensuring a spotless home before the guests arrive. Ideal for the holiday season, cocktail hour can begin in the tasting lounge before everyone transitions to the dining room for an extravagant meal. There is no better way to throw a holiday soiree!
